Topics

Papers suitable for Discover Epidemiology include, but are not limited to:

- Preventing epidemics from becoming pandemics – novel pathogen identification, early warning systems
- Epidemiological characteristics of pathogens (eg virulence, incubation period, reproductive number, disease severity)
- Using epidemic theory and practice to inform and respond to health emergencies
- Public health control measures - case finding, contact tracing, risk mitigation, intervention implementation
- Resource management – supply chain considerations, limited resource allocation
- Communicating about epidemics - avoiding spread of misinformation
- Economic impact, political and economic decision making, economic recovery
- Diagnostics
- Vaccines and therapeutics
- Emerging diseases
- Disease surveillance – potential sharing of outbreak data
- Infectious diseases - includes existing pathogens with potential to become pandemics
- Disease elimination / eradication – progress / barriers towards targets
- Antimicrobial resistance
- One health aspects – zoonoses/zoonotic disease
- Non-communicable disease epidemics/epidemic-like spread (eg diabetes and obesity, opioid crisis)
- Social determinants of health – shared etiologic factors for disease transmission
- Health resources (and lack of)
- Health policies - intergovernmental collaboration

Aims & Scope ✕

In association with the International Water Association.

Water Research X is a Gold Open Access sister journal of Water Research, featuring regular research articles, concise, letter-style, leading-edge research papers, visionary perspectives and editorials, and mini-reviews of emerging topics. The Journal welcomes contributions on all aspects of the science and technology of the anthropogenic water cycle, water quality, and its management worldwide. A broad outline of the journal's scope includes:

3 days ⓘ

Submission to first decision

41 days ⓘ

Submission to decision after review

76 days ⓘ

Submission to acceptance

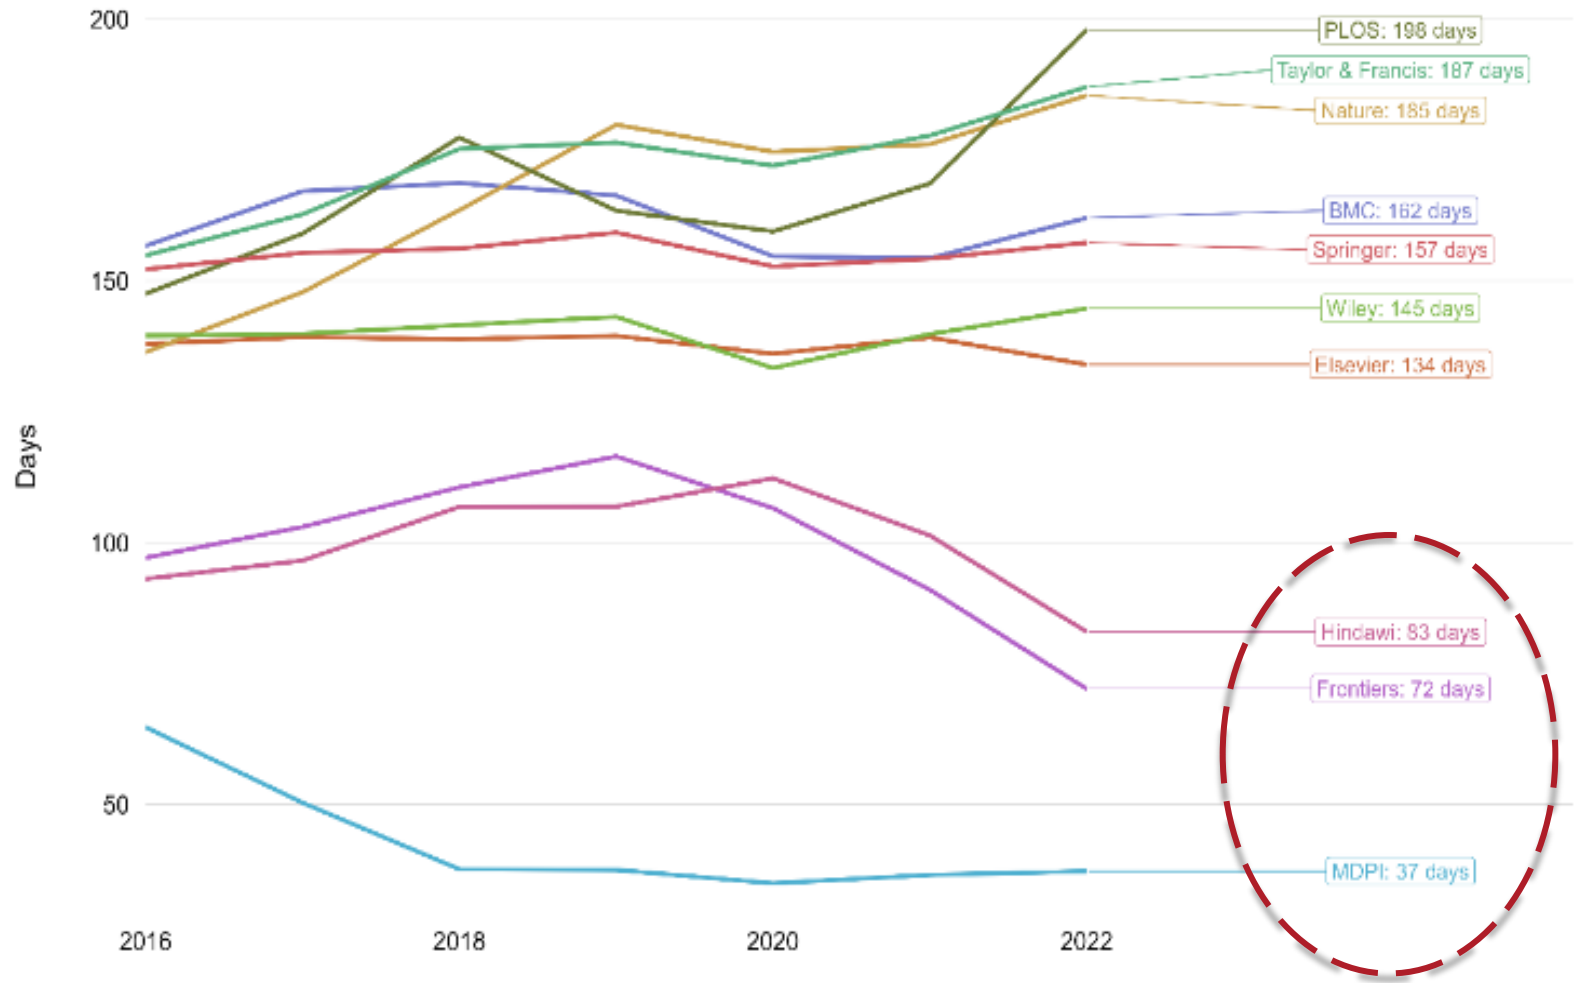

1 day ⓘ

Acceptance to online publication

Accelerated publication options

Taylor & Francis offers two accelerated publishing options, providing you with the flexibility depending on your needs.

These timelines rely on authors making revisions and returning required paperwork on schedule as per our Terms & Conditions. We can reliably meet the tight turnaround times by putting additional resources into monitoring and administering peer review and production processes. If further re-review is required, this will reset the timeline, with re-review prioritised as per the chosen track.

The two publication options that we offer are:

Accelerated Publication Plus

- Final decision in as little as 3 weeks
- Approximately 2 weeks or less for peer review
- 1 week for author revision
- Acceptance to online publication: 1-2 weeks with first proofs within 5 working days

Cost per article: £5500/$7000/€6200

Accelerated Publication

- Final decision in as little as 7 weeks
- Approximately 4 weeks or less for peer review
- 2 weeks for author revision
- Acceptance to online publication: 2-3 weeks with first proofs within 5 working days

Cost per article: £3000/$3900/€3400
